PERSONAL ESSAY

Tips for Keeping to the Focus

- A great personal essay starts with a clear focus, or main point.

- As you write, avoid including unnecessary examples and details that are "beside the point."

- Include a point only if it fits in with what you are writing.

- Inappropriate details make your whole paragraph wobbly and unstable.

- Go back to your opening paragraph after each section you write. Ask yourself if this new section fits.

- Each detail should be interesting and to the point.
